2020 USA University entry deadlines

Early admission deadlines will be between October and November of 2019
Regular admission deadlines will be between January and March of 2020

American University applications differ to UCAS, there is no central regulatory body like UCAS overlooking the application process.

Each application is done separately through the university's own portal.

If you are thinking of applying to an American University, there are programmes such as the Sutton Trust that give bright, state school students a taste of life at an American university. The programme, delivered in partnership with the US-UK Fulbright Commission, is centred on exploring US study, with a one week visit to the US and introductory events and application support in the UK before and after.

Please SEE the PDF on the Careers section of the QMGS website for further information, entitled: Studying at an USA University
